

Education Fair in Naestved, Denmark

The stand of Friends of Europe

The 30th April "Friends of Europe in Næstved-Holmegaard" participated in the Education Fair in Næstved. We were invited by the local trade association, but initially we had some doubts about the usefulness of participating in such fairs.

After some discussion in our board, we decided that a meaningful purpose would be to tell people about our many contacts abroad and with our partners in the Charter of European Rural Communities.

In an educational context could work abroad, for example, be a useful option, like the ability to learn a language by living in another country could be a good idea.

During the day from 10 am to 4 pm, we spoke with a lot of people, both young and adults. We handed over flyers about the Charter and our association, and we talked about how we could offer to help establish contacts, etc., including giving us examples of completed and ongoing projects, which included an educational aspect.

Ditte by the stand representing Friends of Europe